CS VI b Indicators of Professionalism

Directions: Reflect on what you believe are the most important indicators of professionalism that you possess.

I think that professionalism starts with first impressions and it is crucial when meeting a new family or child to put your best foot forward. This includes how you talk, how you dress, and how you interact with a level of professionalism. I think that professionalism means that you use basic social etiquette and can remain calm and collected even during stressful moments. It is important to lead by example and treat others how you want to be treated.

Professionalism also means taking confidentiality seriously and keeping each families information and personal issues private, even from the other families in your care. I strive to remain professional at all times and sometimes this may mean I need to take a break to calm down before I can return to the classroom.
