CS IV a Communication with Families

Directions: In your words, describe the following: How do you ensure that families are kept aware of what's happening in their child's daily/weekly life in your program?

Communication with our families is very important to us. We need to keep family's up to date on any big accomplishments our kids do such as crawling walking or holding their own bottle. We send home daily reports every day, so our parents know about when changing time was when they ate and what they did throughout the day. We feel it's important so we can work with our kids with things they are doing at home and with things they are learning at daycare.

CS IV b Awareness of Children's Home Life

Directions: In your words, describe the following: How do you ensure that you are aware of what's happening in each child's home life? How does that awareness direct your teaching practices? Include activities you have planned and used in past lesson plans in your program.

Our parents talk to us every morning and let us know things like how they are feeling so far, any big things they have learned and any minor thing they are learning at home. Some of our parents will message us with things like pics or videos of things they are learning. I take the things they are working on at home and add them to our day such as learning words like "mommy" and work on that word with them and talk about mommy by saying things like "mommy is at work but she will be back. What kind of thing are you and mommy going to do when you'll get home."
